

Bankhall Data Privacy Notice

Existing Client in Bankhall

1. What is the purpose of this document?

This privacy notice describes how Bankhall collects and uses personal information about you during and after your working relationship with Bankhall, in accordance with the Data Protection Act 2018, also known as the UK General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR).

Bankhall is a 'data controller' for your data in the respect of this privacy agreement and your direct relationship with Bankhall services, any data processing carried out by Bankhall for your customers, as a data processor, are covered under specific Bankhall Terms and Conditions. This means that Bankhall is responsible for deciding how information about you is held and used, this includes the use of any data processors or sub-processors. Bankhall is required under data protection legislation to notify you of the information contained in this privacy notice.

This Privacy Notice makes you aware of how and why your personal data will be used, namely for the purposes of matching you to prospective businesses and partners who are members of our network of financial advice firms for the provision of financial advice and services.

You can contact the Data Protection Officer (DPO) on dataprivacy@sbg.co.uk, or at Bankhall Support Services Ltd, Fourth Floor, Jackson House, Sibson Rd, Sale M33 7RR.

When we mention "Bankhall", "we", "us" or "our" we are referring to Bankhall Support Services Limited

Bankhall ensures it upholds the highest standards of data protection principles and adheres to the following standards across the business. Data will be:

- Used lawfully, fairly and in a transparent way.
- Collected only for valid purposes that Bankhall have clearly explained to you and not used in any way that is incompatible with those purposes.
- Relevant to the purposes Bankhall have told you about and limited only to those purposes.
- Accurate and kept up to date.
- Kept only as long as necessary for the purposes Bankhall have told you about.
- Kept securely.

Further information is detailed in our Data Protection Policy and reviewed by Bankhall annually or when any major changes are required, through the group DPO.

2.2 How will your information be used?

We will use the personal information provided by you for the provision of services and marketing of new services in line with this privacy policy.

Any customer data provided, will be covered by the Terms and Conditions under which the service is provided.

We may use your personal data:

1. As necessary to perform a contract with you for the supply of Bankhall support services:
 - a. to take steps at your request prior to entering into it;
 - b. to decide whether to enter into it;
 - c. to correspond with you;
 - d. to manage and perform that contract, including administering payment for our services;
 - e. to update records.

2. As necessary for our own legitimate interests or those of other persons and organisations, e.g.:
 - a. to manage legal claims (Bankhall have a legitimate interest in protecting the organisation from breaches of legal obligations and to defend the business from litigation. This is needed to ensure that our legal rights and interests are managed appropriately);
 - b. to issue responses to press/news stories concerning services provided by us and/or complaints or legal claims made by you, in order to minimise the reputational impact on the business;
 - c. to perform tasks in relation to our services within our group for centralised administration purposes;
 - d. to obtain feedback from you on the service you have received (we have a legitimate interest in operating the business. This includes ensuring that the service Bankhall provide is of a satisfactory standard);
 - e. to send you marketing communications;
 - f. to engage with third party service providers with which Bankhall have referral/introducer arrangements with, in order to assess your eligibility to benefit from enhanced rates and services.

3. As necessary to comply with a legal obligation, e.g.:
 - a. when you exercise your rights under data protection law and make requests; and
 - b. for compliance with legal and regulatory requirements and related disclosures.

4. Based on your consent,
 - a. to refer you to third party service providers with which Bankhall have referral/introducer arrangements with, in order that you can benefit from enhanced rates and services which may be of interest to you; and
 - b. to send you marketing communications where Bankhall have asked for your consent to do so.

You're free at any time to change your mind and withdraw your consent. The consequence might be that Bankhall cannot do certain things for you or provide certain services.

4. What information is held about you?

In connection with marketing Bankhall may collect, store, and use the following categories of personal information about you:

- contact information (e.g. name, telephone number, email address and address)
- identity information (e.g. national identity card/number, FCA number, passport, drivers licence and national insurance number)
- bank account details
- financial status information, including any debts
- qualifications
- employment history
- data about criminal convictions or offences

Criminal record data is considered more sensitive and so is subject to additional levels of protection under data protection legislation.

Bankhall may process criminal conviction or offence information when the business provides you with FCA application support services. In addition to the lawful basis for processing this information set out above, Bankhall will be processing it based upon your consent.

You're free at any time to change your mind and withdraw your consent. The consequence might be that Bankhall cannot provide you with full FCA application support services.

5. How long is your data kept?

We will hold your personal data for differing periods of time depending upon the reason we have for processing it. The following criteria are used to determine data retention periods for your personal data:

- Retention in case of queries – We will retain your personal data for as long as Bankhall services reasonably consider it necessary to deal with your queries (e.g. any questions you may have in relation to the services).
- Retention in case of claims – We will retain your personal data for as long as Bankhall reasonably consider that you might legally bring a claim against us.
- Retention in accordance with legal and regulatory requirements – We will retain your personal data after Bankhall services have ceased providing services to you for as long as we are required/permitted to retain it for based upon our legal and regulatory obligations.

6. Who is your data shared your data with?

We may share your data with approved third parties and parties within the Sesame Bankhall Group to ensure that you receive the best possible service. We do not sell or pass on your data for marketing purposes, it is only used for the service provision stated or for the marketing of new services within Bankhall or its parent Sesame Bankhall Group.

Where possible all Bankhall data is stored within the EEA but may need to be accessed or stored in a country outside of the EEA that does not provide protections in line with GDPR. In these cases Bankhall relies on the International Data Transfer Agreement (IDTA) to ensure adequate protections are in place in line with required legislation.

These controls are audited to ensure they are in place in lie with SBG policy and UK GDPR and in the majority of cases the processing activity is undertaken by an entity within the Sesame Bankhall Group and so is within direct control of Bankhall Support Services and all policy and controls we give data in the EEA.

7. What are your rights?

Under UK GDPR, you have the following rights:

- Right to be Informed – You have the right to be informed about the collection and use of your personal data
- Right of Access – You have the right to access and receive a copy of your personal data and other supplementary information
- Right to Rectification – You have the right to have inaccurate personal data rectified, or completed if it is incomplete
- Right to Erasure – You have the right to have personal data erased
- Right to restrict processing – You have the right to restriction or suppression of personal data
- Right to data portability – You can request a copy of data and/or to reuse this data for your own purposes across different services
- Rights relating to automated decision making including profiling – You have specific rights when automated decisions are made about you or you are profiled as part of a service. More information on this right can be sought through the group DPO.

To exercise these rights, contact us using the details provided in para 1. We will respond within 1 calendar month unless the request is particularly complex and then an extension with a maximum time of 3 calendar months, may be requested. You will be informed of any extension or issues in resolving your request.
